In conjunction with the very successful temporary exhibition at the Irish Jewish Museum, “Estella Solomons and the Solomons Family”, Estella’s grandniece Susan Solomons will look at three of the six generations of the Solomons family in Dublin. Susan will discuss how her family impacted and were impacted by their environment of 19th, 20th and 21st century Dublin.

The focus of this talk will be on Rosa and Maurice’s communal leadership, Estella’s artistic talent and republican involvement, as well as Bethel and Michael’s role in promoting women’s health.

Susan Solomons is the daughter of Michael and Joan Solomons. Susan has continued the research started by her father into the history of the Solomons family, accessing archives in Ireland and England.

In 2022 Susan gave a presentation to mark the launch of a commemorative plaque for Estella Solomons.

The Irish Jewish Museum 3 Walworth Road, Dublin 8, D08TD29

The museum will be open from 10.30am
